

DESIGN POLICY

Clark Bros. are renderers in the traditional rustic hand troweled styles of the old Italianate and Tuscany architecture.

We do not apply flat renders.

As it is our intention to reproduce the richness of colour, patina and soft lines of the Mediterranean in the modern style, imperfections and surface level variations are intentional and an inherent part of creating the required aesthetic character of aged finishes of old Tuscany, Spain or Morocco.

* Design Note: Typical homes of the 50s, 60s, 70s and 80s were built in brick with recessed mortar raking that could be made deep enough to be a feature or the bricks rumbled, textured or clinkered to add a solid, even chunky character to brick veneer homes. In keeping with this intention and to maintain the overall balance with windows, doors, roof line and dimensions, the traditional Tuscany renders modernize but continue that slightly rustic, solid character of the dwelling. Flat sharp edged renders are often not suitable for such homes.
